

Diplopedia Disclaimer

The following language exists on the footer of every page in Diplopedia, the Department of State's collaborative online encyclopedia:

Diplopedia is administered by IRM's Office of eDiplomacy. The articles in Diplopedia are written and edited by registered OpenNet users who wish to contribute their professional knowledge. Articles should be considered informative but not necessarily authoritative, and are not intended to substitute for official regulations and guidance. If an article contains an error, or is incomplete, please edit the article to make it more accurate and informative, or contact the original contributor directly. External links to other Internet sites should not be construed as an endorsement of the sites' content. Read more about Diplopedia. For information on obtaining third party plug-ins for file types supported by Diplopedia, see the Diplopedia: Plug-ins article.